18. [] LEGISLATION Called Naomi Sweeney, OMB, and told her of the problems we were having in getting the OMB letter to reflect the Administration's position on the role of the ambassador amendment, informing her that James McIntyre, D/OMB, agreed with the Director's position but somehow this word has not gotten down to the drafters of the letter. She promised to do what she could but said maybe we would have to wait until conference, but she did agree with me that obviously it would be much better if the letter from the Administration reflected the position that OMB agreed to and that no comment would appear to be viewed as an endorsement of the amendment.
